

MAKERS EAGER TO GET HOME SOON

Those Who Have Hard Campaigns Ahead Shy at Full
Trust Program This Summer

With new complications in the trust situation, the Senate members of Congress are getting more and more anxious over the question of how they are going to get away from Washington to attend to their fall campaigns.

Predictions of some of the Senators that if Congress enacts comprehensive trust legislation, it will be here until the middle of September or the first of October, are making members who have hard fights for re-election on their minds extremely nervous. While the one is not wanting that some way will be found to avoid a session that will last all summer and run into the fall, it is a fact that once the Senate decides to pass legislation it will be difficult for it to halt before it has made thorough job of it.

Has Three-Day Plan.
The House along in the summer usually fixes up a plan whereby it takes a series of three-day adjournments, while the Senate continues to work. This plan is already being talked of in the House. It is a fairly satisfactory arrangement for members of the House who live within several hundred miles of Washington. But it does little for the relief of members who live in remote States. They do not feel free to go home and jump into their political campaigns, but something would suddenly happen and jerk them quickly back to the Capital.

For the Senate, while that body is spending away steadily on a big subject like the trusts, few Senators like to absent themselves for any length of time, though some of them do it anyhow.

The possibility that Congress will be here until fall has revived talk of the effect Congress is steadily getting closer to the continuous session, founded on special session, from an examination of the records of recent years. The tendency is for frequent and short sessions, but the extra session to become more frequent and shorter. The extra session, which began with the time of the Taft inauguration, Washington has had the lawmakers with it most of the time.

President Taft called the Sixty-first Congress into special session March 15, 1909, and it remained here until August 5 of that year, passing the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. That was a session of the records, but the following session began the following December and ran to June 25, 1910. All together, that Congress, in the four years of its existence, was in session 500 days.

The Sixty-second Congress remained in special session from April 4, 1911, to August 22, a period of 141 days, and the regular session which followed remained in session until August 26, 1912, or 267 days. Altogether, the Sixty-second Congress was in session 500 days in the two years of its existence.

The Sixty-third Congress has been in session continuously since March 1, 1913, and it has called together April 7, 1913, and has been steadily until December 1 of the same year, merging into the present regular session. The special session lasted 229 days and if this session lasts until fall, it will result in Washington than any other in recent years. The exceptional record of the Sixty-third Congress back in 1867, promises to be nearly equaled.

Full U. S. Military Honors
Accorded a Confederate
For the first time on record, full military honors were accorded an ex-Confederate soldier by United States troops yesterday, when an escort from Fort Myer enacted the same ceremonies over the remains of Thomas Findley, an ex-Confederate, as those usually given to the Union dead.

An escort of cavalry from Fort Myer met the cortege at the Arlington cemetery, where the dismounted troops fired a farewell volley, after which "Taps" sounded, a sign of honor to an American soldier, although he had served under the fluttering of the Stars and Bars.

The deceased, Thomas Findley, served in the Confederate ranks all through the civil war, as a member of the Seventh Virginia Cavalry. In later life he was a member of Camp 171, of the United Confederate Veterans of this city.

Blood Risings Not Sign of Health
Boils are Caused by Sluggish and Impure Blood

When there are swellings, eruptions or risings of the skin it is a sure sign that the blood needs help. It needs the cleansing that can be had only by the famous blood purifier, S. S. S. Any eruption of the skin shows the body is retaining impurities, and either continue to circulate and impure the blood, or are deposited here and there in the form of abscesses or surface risings and eruptions.

A host of people use S. S. S. every spring and summer to withstand those little that leave the system tired out. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Give your blood a good bath. It will cause your liver to convert impurities from your blood to your kidneys to excrete them and your skin to carry them off thus leaving your entire system fresh and clean to receive and again be conscious of renewed health. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 106 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their great book on skin eruptions "What the Mirror Tells."—Advt.

Southern Railway to Double-Track System

ATLANTA, Ga., June 12.—In an address before the manufacturers and merchants of Atlanta, President Harrison, of the Southern Railway Company, spoke on the company's plans for the future. He said:

"The time has now come when, to secure greater economy of operation, and to provide additional service for the people of the South, the company must spend money in certain directions in units much larger than is possible by such a gradual process, for the amount available from slowly accumulated annual earnings are in detail necessarily limited."

"To provide for this situation notes to the amount of $10,000,000 have recently been sold, and this new money will be applied to the provision of increased yards, shops, and other terminal facilities."

"The company made provision for carrying out its long-contemplated, comprehensive plan of double-track construction."

U. S. Definition of Indian Upset by Supreme Court

An Indian who has an identifiable mixture of other than Indian blood is a mixed-blood. All other Indians are full-bloods. This is the definition approved by the Supreme Court, in a decision just made in the White Earth land suits. The decision applies to Chippewa Indians.

The litigation which led to the decision was begun by the United States bringing suit against the First National Bank of Detroit, and others, to set aside certain conveyances made by the White Earth allottees. The allottees were made by Indians claiming removal of restrictions because of mixed blood. The Government contended that a one-eighth mixture, or less, was not mixed blood. This contention was lost.

Publisher's Son Sued for $25,000 Heart Balm

NEW YORK, June 11.—Harold Whitteley McGraw, son of James H. McGraw, publisher of the Wall Street Journal, has been sued for $25,000 by Miss Mattie Pearson Morrison, whom he met in January at Asbury Park.

Miss Morrison alleges McGraw proposed to her in January and they were to be married this month, but that he never refused to do so and denied he ever proposed.

At the Hotel Seville the elder McGraw said his son had told him about the case, and assured him he never promised to marry the girl.

KING'S DOUBLE GUARD IS DUE TO "FURIES"

Westminster Abbey Swarms
With Detectives, Fearing
Further Suffragist Outrages

LONDON, June 12.—Doubled guards about King George V and Queen Mary at Westminster Abbey today were the apparent result of the attempt of suffragettes to blow up the coronation chair in the abbey. Except for the chapel of Edward the Confessor, in which the coronation chair sits, the abbey was today thrown open to the public as usual, but in its every corner detectives were posted to seek a trace of those who caused yesterday's explosion or to prevent any further attempts at destructive vandalism.

Indignation against the suffragettes for the attempt was greatly increased today, when Canon Westlake of Westminster admitted there is grave doubt the chair can be repaired. Full accounts of the damage done to the stone of Stone have not yet been made public, and the public fears it was more seriously injured by the bomb than the authorities admit.

The chair, which incloses the stone, was in seclusion under guard, and no one was permitted to pass the curiously carved stone screen which stands at the entrance to the chapel of Edward the Confessor.

Today's outrage by the "furries" came when a party of them made a determined attempt to burn the ancient church of St. Margaret's at Chipstead. The arson squad of the suffragettes smeared the pews of the edifice with tar and oil, lighting their combustibles in three places. Villagers who ran to the aid of the rector, the Rev. William H. Stone, added him to the list of the flames. The church, which dates from the twelfth century, was not greatly damaged.

Loud hisses for the name of King George punctuated a meeting of suffragettes last night. His majesty was roundly denounced for refusing to see a deputation of the "furries" and speakers freely declared that the course of the Government would be resisted to the last extremity.

When the King dined last night with the Grand Duke Michael and the Countess, the Easter baseball team defeated the Congress Heights team yesterday, 5 to 2.

ITCHING ECZEMA IS DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Use like cold cream to subdue irritation and clear the skin.

Constant or intermittent irritation producing itching and red, angry, Eczema patches on the skin is readily relieved with bold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the healing begins, says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years gold-sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties. It is not only parasitic, but it is directly upon the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; subsides the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it is often years later before any Eczema eruption returns.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary cold cream. It is not unpleasant and it is very effective. Eczema is accompanied with itching.—Advt.

ANACOSTIA.

FRENCH BOAT WILL LEAD CANAL PARADE

Having agreed to the repeal of free tolls through the canal for American coastwise ships, the Senate followed it up today by adopting a concurrent resolution which will allow a French vessel, bearing the French flag, to go through the canal at the head of the procession at the time of the opening of the canal.

It will depend on French courtesy whether the American flag is displayed at the head of the line.

Senator Root, who was the force back of the repeal movement, was also author of the bill which seeks to grant the privilege to France to have one of her ships take the lead through the canal. The measure provides that the steam launch Louise, built in France in 1885, and employed in the construction of the canal by the French, and then by the United States, shall be put in good condition and presented to the French government, and that in the first formal or ceremonial opening or passage of the canal, the place of honor be accorded to the said steam launch, bearing the flag of the French republic.

An appropriation of $5,000 is provided. Senator Norris objected to the provision relative to the French flag, and thought the American flag also ought to be displayed. After discussion the Members of Burnside Post, No. 8, G. A. R., in celebration of its thirty-second anniversary. A fish dinner will be served.
